

The Sri Lanka Navy Conducted a Successful Rescue of 14 Crew Members from a stranded vessel in the Sri Lankan Search and Rescue Region

In a commendable display of international maritime cooperation and professionalism, the Sri Lanka Navy (SLN), in coordination with MT Morning Glory (IMO 9877793), successfully rescued 14 crew members from the Vanuatu-flagged vessel MV Integrity Star (MMSI 577172000) in the Sri Lankan Search and Rescue Region on 25th October 2025.

Upon receiving the request for assistance relayed by the Maritime Rescue Coordination Centre (MRCC) Colombo, MT Morning Glory promptly responded and proceeded to the reported location of the MV Integrity Star (MMSI 577172000). Demonstrating exceptional seamanship and humanitarian commitment, the vessel maintained close communication and coordination with MRCC Colombo, providing vital support until the arrival of naval assistance. SLN Ship Samudura arrived at the location of MV Integrity Star (MMSI 577172000) at 1055 hrs IST and officially assumed On-Scene Command duties from MT Morning Glory. Following the successful handover of duties, MT Morning Glory was released from the scene at 1100 hrs IST and resumed her onward voyage.

The Navy's rescue team safely recovered all 14 crew members from MV Integrity Star through a precise and efficient operation conducted under challenging sea conditions. The rescued crew was later provided with necessary humanitarian assistance onboard the SLN Ship Samudura.

The SLN expresses its sincere appreciation to the Master and crew of MT Morning Glory, led by Captain Maciej Mike Jedrzejczak, for their timely response, professionalism, and selfless assistance during the operation. Their readiness to divert and remain on scene until the completion of the rescue exemplifies the true spirit of international maritime solidarity and the highest traditions of mariner responsibility to save lives at sea.

This successful rescue highlights Sri Lanka's steadfast commitment to international maritime safety obligations and underscores the vital role of MRCC Colombo and the Sri Lanka Navy in safeguarding lives and ensuring safety within the region's maritime domain.
